

Long ago, there was an old man whose name was John Smith. John lived with his sons on a big farm. One day he became very sick and he knew he was going to die, so he called his sons to his room.

“Sons,” he said, “I have already given one horse to Pete, four to Dick and eight to Bob. Now, I will give one half of my cows to Pete one-third to Dick, and one-ninth to Bob. I want you to divide the cows.”

Q1 Why John called his sons to his room?

He became very sick and he knew he was going to die.

Q2 How many horse did John have?

John has thirteen horses.

Q3 If John has eighteen cows, how many cows can Dick get?

Dick has six cows.
